

June 3, 4, 5, 2021- EMDR Basic Training Course - Abbotsford

Objectives of Course:

Participants will learn to use EMDR appropriately and effectively in a variety of applications. Such use is based on understanding the theoretical basis of EMDR, safety issues, integration with a treatment plan, and supervised practice during the training weekends. In addition to the Instructional and Supervised Practica portions, there will also be a Consultation component to the training. Qualified applicants will have a minimum of a Masters level training in a mental health discipline and must belong to a professional organization with a code of ethics, or be a Graduate student in a mental health discipline with appropriate clinical supervision.
